Summer Theatre Workshop

Tickets are now on sale for the Summer Theatre Workshop production, The Caucasian Chalk Circle. Director of the production and instructor in the acting courses is Martin Jenkins, a former assistant director of the Royal Shakespeare Company, Stratford-on-Avon, and the founder of Everyman Theatre, Liverpool. Mr. Jenkins has chosen the English adaptation by Eric Bentley of Bertolt Brecht's play. Allan Granstrom, costume designer for the Seattle Repertory Theatre, is designing the 143 costumes to be worn in this production. Phone 477-4821 for reservations. All seats reserved. Tickets $1.50 (students two for the price of one Monday to Thursday).

Faculty/Staff News

DR. MARC BELL (department of biology) presented two lectures on the principles of plant ecology at the science section of the Okanagan Summer School of the Arts July 24 and 25. Dr. Bell's lecture on the natural organization of the plant community was related to the unique ecological environment of the Vaseaux Creek drainage area south of Penticton.

DR. O. SPREEN has been invited to act as consultant on the evaluation of a research project for the National Institute for Neurological Diseases and Blindness of the U. S. National Institute for Health in Dallas August 27 to 29, 1967.

DR. CHARLES W. TOLMAN is one of ten contributors to a book on "Social Facilitation and Imitation" which will be published in January, 1968, by Allyn & Bacon. Dr. Tolman's chapter is entitled "The Role of the Companion in the Social Facilitation of Animal Behaviour" and was originally read at the Miami University Symposium on Social Behavior in March of this year.

DR. GORDON N. HOBSON and DR. RICHARD B. MAY (department of psychology) presented papers at the 47th Annual Meeting of the Western Psychological Association held in San Francisco recently.

DR. JACK LITTLEPAGE and DR. DEREK ELLIS (department of biology) attended the annual meeting of the American Society of Limnology and Oceanography at the Los Angeles campus of the University of California, where Dr. Ellis organized an interdisciplinary symposium on sediments and benthos, reviewing current research on the biology, geology and chemistry of marine sediments. They were accompanied by graduate students Robert Dunnill and John Dobrocky.

Notices

A comprehensive set of traffic and parking regulations is in the process of being formulated and will be made available to all members of the University community and other persons who use parking facilities on campus. You are reminded that new parking permits will be required for the 1967-68 session. Further details will be forthcoming in the near future from the Buildings and Grounds Department.

The Housing Office draws attention to the fact that a few rooms are being held in the men's and women's residences for students coming to the University from other countries. If residence accommodation is required for these students, please telephone local 392 as soon as possible.

The Alma Mater Society has announced that the Academic Guide Book, a critique of courses compiled from a questionnaire filled out by the students, will be available at the SUB office around August 4.

DEAN R. T. WALLACE (director of the evening division) reports that brochures listing credit and non-credit courses for the division's 1967-68 session will be available the second week in August.
